Dear Josh:

Thank you very much for the cultures. They arrived in fine shape and seem to be exactly what we want.

I must say that I have an increased respect for the work in microbial genetics. The experiments which sound so simple and fool-proof are giving my students trouble right and left. And this despite the fact that in the course laboratory I have only three students and they are among our best. Oh, well. I have come to expect this in student labs, but it is discouraging nonetheless.

Thanks again and with best regards--

Sincerely yours,

Dean Fraser
